quiring the removal of a rib and removal of a blood clot from his lung.
He was given a blood transfusion, a WAC from Arkansas being the donor, and was seriously ill for sev-

HONDO B&amp;PW CLUB MEETS

The regular November meeting of the Hondo Business and Professional Women's Club convened at 8 P. M.
Tuesday in the community hall in the Village. Routine business included the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Jo Wood, who announced the net proceeds of the recent game party as $23.90. Mrs. Nita Moffield and Mrs. Ray Mathieson were elected new members of the club.

Report on the District 2 Conference, Texas Federation of B&PW Clubs, held in Beeville Nov. 17-18, was given by Miss Lucille Newton.
Mrs. Lillian Hubert, Mrs. Christine Mayberry and Miss Anne Davis, who represented the local organization.
Eight clubs were represented, including Alice, Beeville, Corpus Christi, Goliad, Hondo, Kingsville, Refugio, and San Antonio, with between 75 and 100 members present. The convention opened with registration at Kohler Hotel, headquarters, followed by a Round-up banquet at 8 P. M. in the hotel ballroom. Speaker for the banquet was Mrs. Louisa Pearson, member of the Corpus Christi torney of Nueces county. The evening's entertainment closed with a Saturday Night Frolic in the United Clubs building. An al fresco breakfast was served Sunday morning in the Marye May Flower Garden, at Professor Connell, teacher of Sociology at Texas A. & I., concluded the conference activities. Presentation of the attendance award was made to Refugio. Hondo, the newest club in District 2, is third in club member-

MEDINA COUNTY AID SOCIETY IS NO MORE

The Medina County Aid Society is no more. The assets of the organization have been distributed among its 86 surviving members, the action of the survivors has been approved, by the Board of Insurance Commissioners, the Charter surrendered as provided by law and the same was canceled on November 8, 1945.

Thus ended an institution which for more than forty years rendered a helpful service to many people.

Organized as the Medina County Home Circle in 1902 as a local mutual benefit society, it proved popular and grew rapidly.

In 1915 it enlarged its scope and took out a charter under the name of Medina County Aid Society, under which name and charter it operated until 1929 when, without changing its name, it qualified under a new insurance law and continued to operate.

During its operation as the Home Circle it paid a number of death claims of which the record is unavailable. Under its 1905 charter, it paid 537 death claims, varying in amounts from over $1,000.00, when in the peak of its popularity, to $87.00, the last claim paid.

When Mr. Haass took over the Secretary-Treasurer job the membership had already suffered a decline from approximately 1500 to 980. Under his 19 years of stewardship, from July 12, 1926, until the dissolution of the organization, 299 death claims, totaling $165,960, were paid. In view of the fact that the 23 years preceding his tenure were the most active—with a larger membership and consequent larger benefits —it seems a half-a-million dollars in benefits would be a conservative estimate of the amount disbursed by the organization during its operation.

The late Joe Ney, who held membership certificate No. 1, was its President from its organization until his death. He was succeeded by Felix Batot. The late H. B. Taylor was its first Secretary-Treasurer and served until his death in 1914. He was succeeded by August Hornung, who served until 1926 when he moved to San Antonio, where he has since died, and was succeeded by H.
V. Haass on July 12, 1926. To Messrs. Batot and Haass fell the duty of liquidating the institution in obedience to the law which provided the same must be done when the membership dropped to 86.

Following is Secretary-Treasurer
Haass' last report:

General remarks and action taken:
The Medina County Aid Society of Hondo, Texas was incorporated on August 29, 1905, as a benevolent association for the purpose of writing life insurance on the assessment-as-needed plan. On December 10, 1929, it qualified under the provisions of Article 4875a, Vernon's Revised Civil Statutes, as a local mutual aid association. It has been currently licensed from that date to operate subject to the said statute and also to Article 5068-1, enacted in 1939.

The Board has been furnished affidavits and file-marked documents revealing that the 86 surviving members of this Association voted unanimously in a special meetand their certificates received and

HONDO FIELD COMETS BEAT
SANTA BARBARA MARINES

The Hondo Army Air Field Comets found atomic strength somewhere at Santa Barbara, Calif., Saturday, Nov. 10, and used it with devastating effect during 60 minutes of wild line play to defeat a favored Marine eleven 13-7.

The pondrous Santa Barbara Marines, although outweighing Coach Bob Coe's Comets 11 pounds per man, discovered early in the first quarter that the Hondo line was totally oblivious to the leatherneck weight, scowls and guts.

Rallying behind big Harry Meyer, Hondo Field's 220 pound line backer, the Comets blocked three Marine punts during the game, turning two of them into scores. Meyer blocked two of the Marine punts and scrappy 180-pound guard Jim Davis

COL. RONIN ASSUMES HONDO
AAF COMMAND

Col. James A. Ronin, wartime commander of Ascension Island, this week assumed command of Hondo Army Air Field and will be at the big airbase during its closing weeks of operation as a B-29 Flight Engineer base.

Col. Ronin, formerly deputy commander of Hondo Field and more recently commanding officer of Pampa Army Air Field, is a regular Army officer and a command pilot.

Col. William L. Kimball, who has been in command of Hondo Field in recent weeks pending the arrival of Col. Ronin, has been named deputy commander of Hondo Field. He will be in charge of many important duties connected with temporary inactivation of one of the oldest training installations in the AAF Training Command.

throttled the third. End Paul Hagan covered the second one in the end zone just before halftime for six points, and added the extra point.
Tackle Art Rollins gathered in the third one in the closing minutes of play for the second and winning Hondo touchdown.

The Marines contributed to the peculiar scoring by blocking a Hondo punt early in the fourth period to register their lone tally.

Late in the third quarter the Leathernecks drove to the Hondo one foot line for a first down.
Meyer, guard Ernst Glauner and Davis literally laughed the opposing Marines into confusion, and drove the attackers back to the Hondo four after their series of downs had been uselessly dissipated. Taking over from the four, Hondo's Stanley Hollmig booted 55 yards from the end zone to take the Comets out of the hole.

The entire game was characterized by brilliant, battering and bom-bastic line play. Santa Barbara's backfield hulk found the scrapping Comet line pierceless. Similarly, the Hondo backs were unable to gain against the Santa Barbara wall. It was defensive, rather than offensive, play that set up each of the scuffle's three scores.

In addition to Meyer, Davis, Hagan, Glauner and Rollins, outstanding Hondo line play was turned in by Bob Bezdichek, Otto Schnellbacher,
Joe Buahek and Frank Hollendon.

In the Comet backfield Hollmig,
Sam Laskin, Ivan Cunningham, Bob Jenkins and Campbell McKellar turned in highly capable performances.

The Marines' Ed Hamilton, an end, and guard Joe Daugherty were tops in the Santa Barbara line while Charles Horvath, Eli Maricich and Hank Little sparked in the leather-neck backfield.

The Santa Barbara Marine club had won seven, lost one (to Nevada, 19-14) and tied one prior to the Comet onslaught. The Comet victory boosted the Hondo season's rec-cancelled. Included in the assets so prorated was the $172.00 statutory deposit which had been released to the Association on prior order of this Board.

On the basis of the evidence submitted, the Board finds that the members and officers of the Medina County Aid Society have fulfilled all of the legal requirements for voluntary dissolution. It is therefore ordered that the Charter of this Association be cancelled and notice of that fact be given to the Secretary of State for insertion in his records.

HONDO COMETS IN TOP TRIM FOR CONTEST WITH PIRATES

Coach Bob Coe put the final polish to his Hondo Field gridsters Wednesday and Thursday as the Comets prepared to fly to Big Springs, Tex., for their Saturday afternoon pigskin engagement with the Southwestern U. Pirates.

Night sessions Wednesday for his linemen and a light scrimmage Thursday afternoon left Coe's Comets in the pink. Particular stress was placed Thursday on pass defense, a precaution against a reportedly strong Southwestern aerial game.

The Comet coach announced three probable changes in his starting lineup for Saturday. Big Bill Timmons, hard-charging 216-pounder formerly a four-year varsity man for San Diego State, will start at right tackle; Ed Sobczak, 200-pounder who has been holding down an end position, was recently shifted to right halfback and will open with that assignment against Southwestern; and John Walsh, 175-pound back, will probably start at quarter in the Hondo backfield in place of Sam

Plan to Remove Food Subsidies; Atom Bomb Figures in Allies' Postwar Diplomatic Movements

Released by Western Newspaper Union
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

No longer capable of doing heavy labor, and sick, diseased and dispirited, German prisoners of war released by Russians trek through Berlin on their return to homes in the west.

SUBSIDIES:

Time Removals

Designed to hold down living costs during wartime, government subsidies to food producers and processors will be gradually removed to lessen the impact on the civilian price structure, Stabilization Director John C. Collet revealed.

Tentative plans call for the abolition of subsidies on vegetable shortening by December 1, 1945; cheese, not later than February 28, 1946, and the $1.30 rollback per 100 pounds on pork not later than March 31, 1946, with the remaining pork payment scheduled to go not later than June 30, 1946. In addition, subsidies on canned and frozen vegetables, dry edible beans, prunes and raisins will be terminated at the close of the 1945 crop year, with dairy production, fluid milk, feeder cattle, beef, sheep and lambs and flour payments expected to be ended not later than June 30, 1946.

With the department of agriculture estimating the cost of food subsidies for the fiscal year ending next June 30 at $1,708,000,000, payments on slaughter of livestock are expected to total $535,400,000; dairy production, $534,000,000; flour, $190,000,000 and beef cattle, $40,000,000.

LABOR INDUSTRY:

Discuss Bargaining

Backed by AFL Chieftain William Green and representatives of management, burly John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers ripped the CIO proposal to tie wages into the present labor-industry conference in Washington, D. C., and demanded that talks be confined to establishing machinery for settlement of disputes.

In spearheading the opposition to the CIO proposal based upon President Truman's wage policy, Lewis asserted that the problem of pay should be left to collective bargaining and not strait-jacketed by any formula based on cost of living. In granting employees increases and adjusting their price structure, employers will be governed by competition to assure reasonable costs, Lewis said.

Even as the 36 labor and management representatives pitched into their task, trouble brewed in the automobile and steel industries, with the CIO asking the government to intervene following collapse of negotiations with General Motors and U. S. Steel corporation over wage increases to maintain wartime take-home pay.

ARMY:

Step Up Discharges

Mostly European vets originally marked for redeployment to the Pacific, 50-point enlisted men presently home on furlough or on temporary duty in the U. S. have become eligible for discharge, the army reported.

At the same time, the army announced that no enlisted man with 21 or more months of service since September 16, 1940, will be sent overseas for permanent duty except for language specialists, regular army personnel and volunteers.

Also exempt from overseas assignment are officers who have 33 or more months of service, or medical officers with 30 months, except for those who have chosen to remain on active duty, are regular army men or are classed as scarce specialists. Nurses who are 30 years of age or have 12 points will not be sent overseas.

GRAIN SUPPLIES:

The bulk of the supplies of wheat available for export in 1945-46 is in North America, the department of agriculture reports. With exports from the United States currently estimated at 300 to 325 million bushels, shipments from Canada may be about as large.

Under favorable transportation, marketing and handling conditions, somewhat larger exports would be possible from the United States though shipments from Argentina may fall short.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS:

Atomic Talk

The red-hot question of sharing the atomic bomb featured the recent diplomatic news as the U. S., Britain and Russia continued their polite tug-of-war for favorable positions in the construction of the postwar world.

Russia's tough little Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov started the ball rolling in an address on the eve of the 28th anniversary of the Red revolution, declaring that in this scientific age no such discovery as the atomic bomb could long remain a secret, and that eventually the Soviet would have it. Telling the world that possession of the atomic bomb should not be used as a diplomatic weapon in obtaining advantages, Molotov also said that its real effectiveness for preserving peace has yet to be tested.

Indirectly answering Molotov in Britain's house of commons, the equally tough Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin declared that it was entirely proper for Britain, Canada and the U. S. to proceed slowly on the question of sharing the atomic bomb in view of its tremendous potentialities. In finally determining the bomb's disposition, he asserted, statesmen and not scientists should make the final decision because of their closer acquaintance with political conditions.

In addressing commons, Bevin rapped Russia hard, stating that Britain had met every territorial demand of the Reds only to find them increasing their claims, particularly for control of North Africa and Ethiopia on the British lifeline to the east. Meanwhile, Secretary of State Byrnes projected the U. S. into the international picture with the revelation of this country's support of an Allied commission to guarantee free access to the Black or Mediterranean seas through the vital Dardanelles and Bosphorus straits, and the release of Italy's territorial views.

By calling for an Allied commission, Byrnes favored revision of the present Montreux agreement entrusting Turkey with control of the strategic straits, but countering the Russian demand for military bases along the vital waterways to assure free passage.

In submitting its territorial views, Italy agreed to readjustment of its French and Yugoslavian boundaries and establishment of Allied bases in its former North African colonies, but asked for retention of certain Near Eastern possessions of economic value.

All these diplomatic problems, plus consideration of the question of Jewish immigration in British-controlled Palestine were reportedly part of British Prime Minister Attlee's scheduled discussions with President Truman.

AID POLIO VICTIMS

More than $1,000,000 in epidemic aid has been disbursed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis so far this year, with more than three-fourths going to Illinois, No. Carolina, New York and Virginia.

Principal expenses of National Foundation chapters include hospitalization and transportation of patients, purchases of special equipment and salaries of doctors, nurses and other professional personnel.

CHINA:

Battle On

Full-scale civil war loomed in China as negotiations between communists and nationalists bogged and the Reds took to the offense in an effort to prevent Chiang Kai-shek's forces from infiltrating into their northern strongholds.

As a result of the outbreak of hostilities, the U. S. decided to withdraw American troops from the scenes of combat, the Yanks having been used to aid nationalists in taking over former Jap-held territory. Removal of U. S. units did not signify any reversal of policy in supporting Chiang, however, with reports that the administration would continue to offer him material aid.

Thus did the threat of civil war, following close upon V-J Day, dampen long-suffering China's hopes for a period of peace and tranquility in which to unify the nation politically and lay the foundation for economic development and modernization.

FINLAND:

Try Leaders

Charged with refusal to mediate differences with Russia and prosecuting war on the side of the Axis instead, eight prominent Finnish leaders were arrested by the new government and scheduled for early trial in the people's court.

In the unprecedented movement of a country to punish former leaders for their official acts, Vaino Tanner, dominant Finnish politico of 1941, was accused of failing to take advantage of a U. S.-British offer to mediate with Russia that year.

Tanner again was named for failure to accept a U. S. proposition to conciliate Finnish-Russian differences in 1943 along with former President Risto Rytty, Foreign Minister Henrik Ramsay, Prime Minister Edwin Linkomies, Gen. Rudolf Walden, and Finance Minister Tyko Reinikka.

POLITICS:

No Trend

Continued Democratic domination of the big cities and Republican inroads in small municipalities marked the recent election results and offered little clue to a political trend prior to the all-important congressional elections in 1946.

Most significant feature of the balloting was the CIO's failure again to capture the mayoralty in Detroit, Mich., motor car center of the U. S. and United Automobile Workers stronghold. Calling upon the unorganized residents of the city to rally for an impartial rather than a labor dominated administration, Mayor Jeffries won re-election over CIO Candidate Frankenstein by a comfortable margin.

Maintaining their dominance over the big municipalities, the Democrats handily won the mayoralties of New York, Boston, Pittsburgh and Cleveland, while Republicans won back Buffalo, N. Y., and New Haven, Conn., after more than a dozen years.

Sets Air Speed Record

Exciting possibilities for speedy post-war air travel were opened with the record-breaking performance of Britain's jet-powered Gloster Meteor piloted by Capt. H. J. Wilson.

Smashing the former official mark of 491.84 miles per hour set by Capt. Fritz Wendel of the German air force in 1939, Wilson averaged 606 miles per hour in four runs over a 1.86-mile course at Hurne Bay, England.

At Wilson's rate of speed, excited statisticians figured that a plane could travel non-stop around the world in 41 hours; from Los Angeles, Calif., to New York City in 3 hours and 59 minutes; from Chicago, Ill., to Panama in 3 hours and 49 minutes, and from Chicago to Mexico City in 2 hours and 46 minutes.

NATURAL SPY:

Tipped Off FBI

Asserting that his only intention in accompanying saboteurs to the U. S. in 1942 was to get out of Germany, a Nazi spy disclosed the whole enemy plot for damaging U. S. plants and facilities and terrorizing civilians to the FBI, leading to the early roundup of the entire clique landed by submarine.

Let off with 30 years imprisonment for his disclosure and testimony at the trial resulting in the execution of six of the saboteurs and a life sentence for another, the spy, George Dasch, named the other conspirators and furnished information which enabled the G-men to cover their movements and track them down in New York and Chicago, Ill.

In detailing the saboteurs' mission, Dasch told the FBI that the TVA was marked for destruction along with important industrial plants, the Hell Gate bridge in New York City, Ohio river locks, and important railroad tracks. In addition, the saboteurs planned to terrorize civilians by planting time bombs in depot lockers and crowded stores.

FIBER SOURCE:

Never grown in the western hemisphere before Pearl Harbor except experimentally, abaca—from which Manila rope is made—is now being produced in quantity on five plantations of 27,500 acres in four Central American republics and Panama, the state department disclosed.

Western hemisphere production of abaca, which was obtained largely from the Philippines before the war, may aggregate 25 million pounds this year and from 45 to 50 million pounds in 1946.

Report Army Looms as New Power as Factions Clash Over Broad Participation in Postwar World Affairs.

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

What's happening inside Russia? Where there's smoke, there's fire. Vehement denials of the death of Marshal Stalin were followed finally by admission that the man who had more power than any czar could boast of was weary. That he was well, but that he was shedding some of his responsibilities.

It is interesting to note the reaction in this country. The wishful thinking of those who first announced the death rumor over the air and in print was not reflected in official Washington.

The very day before the first story appeared a high government official expressed the opinion in my hearing that the hope for understanding between the United States and Russia depended largely on Stalin. This was after the long series of disagreements beginning with the breakup of the Foreign Ministers' meeting in London, the refusal of Russia to take active part in the United Nations Food organization meeting in Quebec, the objections to various moves made by the members of the United Nations Executive Council. Everywhere "Russia objects" seemed to be the one answer which Russia's representatives had to offer to the suggestions made by the American and other governments.

When the real history of the international conferences, beginning with the Moscow conference which Secretary of State Hull attended, through Yalta and Potsdam, is written, I think it can be shown that Stalin, frequently against the advice of his councilors, was the one who broke the deadlocks and proposed or accepted compromises which were made necessary by his own colleagues' stubbornness.

It will be recalled that when the invitations to the meeting at San Francisco went out it was announced that Russia would not send her foreign minister as head of the delegation, but would leave that post to Ambassador Gromyko in Washington. This made a bad impression, for it looked as if Stalin were damning the affair with faint support. However, after the American newspapers sounded off on the subject, Stalin had a change of heart—or perhaps the death of Roosevelt, which occurred in the interim, affected his course. Molotov was duly assigned to the job.

Molotov proved no simple primrose and more than once, it is reported, Stalin's intervention had to be sought to grease the wheels.

There was another occasion—just which one is not revealed—when the work was completely stymied and finally the President made a direct appeal to Stalin to accept the suggestions of the majority on a point that appeared to have hopelessly deadlocked the meeting. This time, against the counsel of his advisors, who were holding out, Stalin put his O.K. on the request.

Isolationists

Bloc Grows

There is reason to believe that this "no vote" attitude of a number of the Soviet leaders who opposed what many have considered too deep entanglement in international affairs, which has been in evidence for a long time, finally wrecked the Foreign Ministers' conference.

As early as the time of the San Francisco meeting there were hints of a growing "isolationist" opposition inside Russia. Word reached certain members of the conference by a roundabout way, but from a thoroughly reliable source, concerning the status of former Foreign Minister Litvinov, Russia's crack diplomat, who negotiated the resumption of relations with the United States after the long hiatus following World War I. At one time it was reported that Litvinov had been purged. This was not so. But what had happened was that the "Russia objects" element had managed to shelve him because of his more liberal views.

This apparently was the beginning of what many called a "palace revolution," and which some people believe is now flaring up into full flame.

The story of the events which led up to the Litvinov affair has never been confirmed, but it is reasonable to assume that it is true. In brief, there was a split in the all-powerful "Polit-Bureau" of the Soviets. The Political Bureau is a small body chosen from the central committee of the Communist party, which is the government's policy-forming entity. This body is composed of powerful Soviet leaders and it exerts a great deal of influence.

According to the reports touching on Litvinov's position, the Polit-Bureau was sharply divided into "isolationists" and those who looked upon the rest of the world with a less jaundiced view. At that time Stalin was said to be walking a tight-rope between the two and choosing carefully toward which side he would lean. Litvinov, who believed that Russia could not live by herself and who had always encouraged a sympathetic attitude toward the outside world, had been completely shelved for his ideas.

Little more was heard of these rumblings until after the end of the war, when the Red army became the symbol of Russian salvation. Then it appeared that the isolationist Russia, the big-army Russia, the Russia which wouldn't take anything off anybody, had a new and powerful backer—the officers (and perhaps some of the rank and file as well) of the Red army.

In any case, we know that the high officers of the army received all sorts of perquisites, rewards and privileges, which only the highest of the high receive.

Red Army

Strong Factor

The assumption on the part of some observers is that with the ascendancy of the Red army element, not only the isolationists, but the Communist party as a whole, lost influence. There has always been jealousy between the two, though, of course, their membership overlaps in many cases. You will recall that at the beginning of the war civilian commissars were attached to army units and they censored all orders issued by the officers. This proved to be not only highly unpopular with the military, but also impractical. The civilian commissars were then withdrawn and only those with military training were appointed. Their authority, in effect at least, became merged with that of the military.

Now the high army officers are recognized as occupying virtually the same plane as the high party officials.

Just where Stalin stands as a result of this change in the fabric of Russian national policy it is impossible to say. It has been rumored that he has relinquished his function as commander-in-chief. It has also been rumored that he is ready to drop out of the picture completely and choose a successor. In that connection it was hinted that General Zhukov, Russia's Eisenhower, was afflicted with a "diplomatic illness" when he suddenly gave up a widely advertised trip to the United States, which it was said he had looked forward to with considerable zest.

This might have been a signal that Russia was drawing further within herself.

Some believe that it indicated that Zhukov was the chosen successor of Stalin and that, until a new regime was firmly established, the Soviets would maintain a negative policy in foreign relations.

In any case, it is clear that the "Russia objects" policy was inaugurated for some reason and naturally, since in the past Stalin had always been the one who was able to play ball with the Allies, at least to the point where progress seemed to be made toward working agreements, Washington is by no means anxious to see him fade from the picture.

Meanwhile, the one hopeful view which is being taken of the Russian situation is that it may be that there is some kind of a change taking place within Russia and that the present policy of stalling means nothing worse than a necessary marking time on the part of the Soviet leaders until the outcome is settled.

And then there is always another reason which pops up as an explanation of almost anything these days—the atomic bomb.

The Salvation Army gave service to 225,000,000 servicemen during the war in their clubs, hostels and mobile units. But I'll bet they didn't surpass those doughnuts they served us in World War I.

Two hundred and seventy million dollars worth of highway projects, frozen during the war, are now starting.

The air transport command recently took 24 queen bees from America to France. This is a record for transporting royalty.

Is the sun burning up your crops? There are plenty of surplus bombers no good for anything else which could fly in formations and squirt out enough water to make clouds—so we're told.

Tomorrow is Forever

by GWEN
BRISTOW

THE STORY THUS FAR: Spratt Her- long had become a successful major producer of motion pictures. When things were not going just right at the office he would call his wife, Elizabeth, and he would join him at lunch. He liked to have her join him at lunch—not to secure talk matters over with her—but for the sympathetic interest she displayed. After one such meeting, the talk turned to their oldest son, Dick, now 17, who would soon be entering service. They both decided that when the time came, they would face it bravely. Spratt said that giving their son to their country was little compared to what they would lose in case we were defeated in the war.

CHAPTER II

Elizabeth laughed at him. "Are you coming home for dinner?" "I certainly am. Why the query?" "It may be pretty noisy. Dick and Cherry are having a couple of youngsters in."

"What on earth are you feeding them with?"

"I was very lucky. I got some short-ribs of beef. And shrimps to start with."

"Better than anything I could get at the commissary. I'll be there. If Kessler turns up with an idea worth talking about, I may be a bit late."

"All right. But I'll have to feed the children. We'll start at seven-thirty whether you're there or not. How's that?"

Elizabeth had a high opinion of marriage, because it was an institution in which she had found a great deal of happiness. She had been married twice, the first marriage joyous but brief, for it had been ended in 1918 by a shell at Chateau-Thierry. Strange to remember now that she had thought her life was over, for she was only twenty when it happened, and nobody could have told her she was going to meet Spratt. She had had no children by her first husband and there was nothing concrete in her present life to remind her of him. But it was her memory of Chateau-Thierry that made her more frightened than Spratt when they spoke of their son's approaching military age. Spratt loved Dick as much as she did, but he had not had a personal experience of the price of war. Though Spratt was an eminently practical man, his mind simply did not accept the possibility that Dick could be killed. Her mind did accept it, because she had been through it once and knew it could happen. But she tried sincerely not to think about it, and for the most part she succeeded. Dick would inevitably be eighteen; what took place after that was up to him and his country. Horrible as it was, this war was nevertheless a battle against evil that must be stopped or it would make the world unfit for Dick to live in. There was no use letting herself get useless and shaky with dread. "I won't have to face it for nearly a year," Elizabeth said to herself for the thousandth time. "Anything can happen before then." So she let it go. Dick was still seventeen, and she had everything she had ever wanted—a congenial marriage, three children, and days full of worthwhile occupation. "It's a good life," she thought as she turned into the canyon road and the fragrance of sage blew up to her from the glens. "A very good life. I like it."

In the driveway she paused to give some directions to the gardener. Her youngest, Brian, aged eleven, appeared with his bicycle. She called to him.

"Where are you going, Brian?"

"Scout meeting." He looked up and down the street. "Peter's supposed to come by and go with me. I said I'd wait in front for him. He ought to be here now."

"All right." She nearly added, "Be careful of the traffic," but stopped herself. Brian was as expert with a bicycle as she was with a car. He had never got himself hurt riding, and there was no sense in being overly fussy with him. From scanning the street he turned to look up at her.

"Mother, can I stay for dinner with Peter?"

"Has he asked you?"

"Not yet, but I'm going home with him after Scout meeting to see his lepidoptera—" Brian got out the word importantly—"and he might, I mean if he does, can I stay?"

"Not unless his mother asks you," she answered gravely. "You mustn't ever go to dinner with any of the boys unless their mothers ask you, Brian. If Mrs. Stern invites you to stay, tell her you aren't sure, and ask her to call me up."

"If Mrs. Stern calls you up, can I stay?"

"You won't say anything about wanting to stay unless she suggests it first?"

"No, I won't. Honest. I promise."

"All right then, if she calls me."

"Okay," said Brian, with confident satisfaction. "Oh, there he is. Hi, Peter!" He swung to his bicycle and was off.

"How busy they are," Elizabeth thought as she looked after the two little boys whisking down the street. "Everything they do is so important. I wish life was always like that. Oh, fiddlesticks and fury, I don't either. Getting wistful about childhood is a temptation, but how dreadful if childhood lasted sixty years. Living always on the top of things, with no idea what goes on underneath."

Laughing at herself, she started the car again and drove toward the garage at the back. The children did not notice her at once, so Elizabeth pressed the brake and paused a moment to watch them. Her two older children, Dick and Cherry, were there by the pool with their two friends. One of the latter was a leggy freckled girl named Julia Rayford, whom Dick for some obscure reason considered beautiful. Elizabeth could not see that the child had any beauty except what went with health and high spirits, but she was glad Dick admired her, for Julia was a nice girl and as she was Cherry's best friend, they all got along amiably together. Cherry, now, was a really adorable creature, all curves and a cascade of dark hair, and her two-piece bathing suit, clinging wetly to her luscious person, did more to emphasize her hips and her round young breasts than to conceal them. Elizabeth suddenly thought, "Good heavens, how that when I was her age! But she's really lovely."

"But she's really lovely."

fast I'd have been arrested if I'd gone swimming as nearly naked as Since Cherry was his sister, Dick rarely paid much attention to how she looked, but it was quite evident that the fourth member of their party was aware of her charms; he was a classmate of Dick's, who, since his name was Herbert Clarendon Whittier, was known to his intimates as Pudge. At the moment Pudge was shaking the lemon tree while Cherry scrambled around gathering the lemons as they fell. Dick stood poised on the diving-board, evidently about to perform some marvelous feat for the admiration of his girl friend, who sat with her legs dangling into the water at the shallow end, watching him. What a healthy-looking creature he was, Elizabeth thought, and how he was growing up. He really looked more like a man than a boy now, and she suddenly thought of Dick as he had been when he was so tiny she could carry him on one arm, and he was soft and warm and smelt like talcum powder. "That's how it goes," she thought. "Strange, and of course it isn't strange at all, it's been happening like this for ten thousand years, but it still seems strange when it happens to yourself. Now before many years more he'll marry some immature little girl like that Julia Rayford, and she'll have a baby, and he'll come in and bend over it with that same expression that Spratt had the first time he saw Dick. If it's a boy they'll name him Richard Spratt Herlong III and if it's a girl they'll argue about every name from Amaryllis to Zillah and compromise on some prosaic family name like mine, and I'll get a smug matriarchal air about me, and we'll all have a grand time and be just as excited about it as if it hadn't happened to anybody else. Of course, before that we'll have to get through the war. Oh, why should any group of power-mad scoundrels have the power to send the world into a holocaust? Boys like Dick—I will not think about it now. He doesn't think about it. Or I wonder if he does?"

She recalled Dick at the radio the day of Pearl Harbor. She came into the living room, as stunned as every- one else was that day, to find him listening, his lips drawn back from his teeth in an expression of horror almost grotesque on so young a face. As she entered he looked up at her and said deliberately, "The yellow-bellied bums."

She gave an ex- bellied bums. She gave an exclamation, shocked to discover he had such an expression in his vocab- ularly, but all he did was grin mirth- ously, and reply, "I know some lessor words than that and if you worse words than that you'd bet- ter don't want to hear them you'd bet- ter go out and listen to the portable in the garden with the boss, because I feel like saying them."

Elizabeth was astonished, not only at his words but at his vehemence. It was the first time Dick had ever seemed to her like anything but a fun-loving little boy. The news from Pearl Harbor had shocked him into a strange and sudden maturity. She went out to the garden and told Spratt what he had said. Spratt answered tersely, "I know just how he feels." "So do I," said Elizabeth. "I couldn't have scolded him with any conviction." They listened awhile to the enraging radio voices, and suddenly she exclaimed, "Spratt! We're in the war. That means that before long—it means Dick." Spratt said, "Yes. I wish it meant me." Elizabeth got chilly all over, but she told herself that day for the first time, "I don't have to face it yet!"

She wondered how Dick felt about it now. She was not sure. Dick spoke of the war sometimes, with the matter-of-fact assumption that when he came of age he would get into it, but right now it seemed less important to him than campus af- fairs, probably because by the reck- oning of seventeen anything a year ahead was too remote to be of press- ing concern. "Good heavens above!" she broke off her thoughts, for Dick rose up from the board, turned over twice in the air and cut like a knife into the water, reappearing just in time to hear Julia exclaim, "Dick, that's wonderful! Do you think I could learn to do it?"

Pudge saw Elizabeth first. He called, "How do you do, Mrs. Her- long?" and the others turned to wave at her. Elizabeth waved back as she drove the car into the garage. When she had put it up she walked across the grass toward the pool.

"Hello, all of you. Cherry, what on earth are you going to do with all those lemons?"

"Make lemonade," said Cherry, and Pudge added, "You don't mind, do you?"

"Of course not, but you've shaken down enough to make about four gal- lons. Pick up the rest of them in a towel or something, Cherry, and bring them in; we can use them."

"I'll get the ice," Dick offered, scrambling out of the pool. "Julia, you and Pudge wait for us here, you don't know where things are."

He took up a towel from the grass and began scrubbing his lean brown legs. "The trunks are drippy, but I won't go anywhere but in the kitchen," he promised before Elizabeth could give him any orders.

"All right," she agreed, and start- ed for the house. Crossing a bal- cony that ran along the back she en- tered the den which the children were allowed to use as their own, and paused to glance with curiosity at some disreputably dusty old mag- azines stacked up against the wall. They looked like the accumulation of years from an attic; what the chil- dren meant to do with them she could not imagine, unless one of the schools was having a drive for the Salvation Army.

The door leading to the kitchen burst open and Dick put his head in.

"Mother, do you want a glass of lemonade?"

"Why yes, I'd love one."

"You'll have to come and get it unless I'm allowed on the rug."

"I'll come get it," she said hastily, and went into the kitchen before he could bring his dripping trunks into the den. Dick and Cherry were making a great racket with ice cubes and glasses, their suits leav- ing puddles on the linoleum and bringing unhappy glances from the cook. "What are all those old pa- pers doing in the den?" Elizabeth asked as she accepted a glass from Dick.

"They're ours," Cherry answered, "Julia's and mine, I mean. We've got to write an essay for costume design about the evolution of twen- tieth-century clothes. Julia found those old magazines up in the attic at her house and we're going to get some ideas from them."

"I see. Don't bring them into the living room unless you dust them off."

"Okay," said Cherry. She dis- appeared with the pitcher of lemon- ade, and Dick held up a box of cookies he had found on a cupboard shelf.

"Can we have these, mother?"

"Such appetites! Very well, take them."

"Thanks." He followed Cherry out to the pool. When she had conferred with the cook about dinner, Eliza- beth went upstairs.

She glanced into Spratt's room. Everything there was in order—cig- arettes in the boxes, matches and ashtrays beside them, Time and Newsweek on the table, along with a couple of novels from an agency and a notebook in which Spratt could scribble ideas about their picture possibilities. She made sure his pencils were sharpened, drew a cur- tain across one window through which the sun was pouring in to fade the rug, and went through the com- municating doorway into her own room.

This was her favorite spot in the whole house. Much as she loved her family there were times when she was glad to be alone, and this was the only place that was arranged hers. Here everything was entirely to please herself—the bed with its monogrammed blue cover.

BARUCH PREDICTS INFLATION

WASHINGTON. — Elder States- man Bernie Baruch revealed some interesting figures on inflation recently in an off-the-record session with 14 younger congressmen at his Shoreham hotel apartment. Baruch's prediction was that the nation was hell-bent for inflation—and soon.

Piecemeal increases in wages, profits and the cost of living have been uneven, Baruch said, with wages lagging behind. For that reason he no longer favored his prewar idea of a freeze on both prices and wages. Our only hope, said the elder statesman, is that we can weather the next six to nine months with- out running into serious inflation. If we do that, our chances of a strong recovery from the war boom are good.

"The huge pent-up demand for products which we will see during the next nine months is a very serious threat," said Baruch, stressing the importance of holding prices down.

He amazed his listeners by saying that he is completely opposed to tax reduction of any nature at this time. "Not only does the govern- ment lose needed revenue, but it is an unhealthy thing for our general economy," argued Baruch.

Rep. Andy Biemiller of Milwaukee asked what Baruch thought of the statement by General Motors' president C. E. Wilson that if wages are raised 30 per cent, prices must go up 30 per cent. Baruch talked at some length on the general question of rising prices, but gave no direct answer. Finally, Biemiller repeated his question.

"I'm afraid I can't agree with Mr. Wilson," Baruch said.

WAGE NOT PRICE INCREASE

"Isn't it true that industry can give a 30 per cent wage increase without having to raise prices more than about 7½ per cent?" Biemiller persisted.

"You are approximately right," Baruch agreed. "I believe the figure you may have heard is actually 8½ per cent."

Baruch also told his guests that he felt we were making a mistake in speeding manpower demobilization. "With the world in its present situation," he said, "it seems to me it would be wiser to proceed slowly with de- mobilization, in order that we not weaken ourselves at a time when power is apparently still an important thing."

He agreed also with an idea pro- posed by one of his guests, Estes Ke- fauver of Chattanooga, to have cab- inet members and other high of- ficials appear on the floor of con- gress where they can be questioned by congressmen. Such a practice would make for much greater co- operation between the executive and legislative departments, Baruch said.

Present in addition to Biemiller and Kefauver were Representa- tives Albert Gore and Percy Priest of Tennessee, John Sparkman of Al- abama, Mike Mansfield of Montana, Henry Jackson of Washington, Jerry Voorhis and Chet Holifield of Cal- ifornia, Bob Sikes of Florida, Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, Bob Ram- speck of Georgia, and Jamie Whit- ten and Arthur Winstead of Missis- sippi.

CHURCHILL IN DEFEAT

Winston Churchill recently told friends how he felt after his defeat in the British elections. The first few days after his defeat were ter- rible, Churchill confessed. The very next morning he arose and fretted because there were no diplomatic ca- bles to read. Through the war, his first morning chore was to read the top-secret military and diplomatic cables from all over the empire; and he paced up and down intermittently for days, fretting because there were no cables coming in and be- cause, though he felt things were going wrong, there was no one to whom he could send cables to straighten things out.

"Finally I went down to the south of France," Churchill confessed. "They treated me well there. I painted several pictures and they fed me some wonderful food. But still I couldn't get over this idea of no cables coming in and no cables going out. Each morning I fretted when I read the papers. But finally one morning I felt better. It sud- denly dawned on me that I wasn't prime minister any more and it wasn't my worry, and I've felt bet- ter ever since."

Note — Churchill's health is touch and go. His doctor has ordered him to cut down on his food and drinking.

Curtains to Match Chair Covering Will Create an Illusion of Space

By Ruth Wyeth Spears

the kitchen miracles away from expectant guests is one of many problems solved in this booklet.

A balustrade gives a sense of there being two rooms, but the two are drawn together and an illusion of space created by repeating the plaid of the chair for the curtains in the distance. The booklet also shows how to hang the curtain dividing the room so that it may be drawn with a swish. Diagrams are given for cutting and making all types of draperies, and fixtures required are clearly illustrated.

EMIL KREISLE RITES HELD SATURDAY

Emil Kreisle, 89, a native Texan, died at his home, 123 N. Calaveras St., Thursday. He had been a resident of San Antonio for 29 years.
Kreisle's family were pioneers, and his mother was a member of the original Castro colonists who settled in Castrovilla over a hundred years ago. In his youth he freighted with an ox-team and also worked on the construction of the Southern Pacific Railroad when it was built into San Antonio. He was a blacksmith by trade, but in his later years devoted his time to farming and ranching.
Funeral services were held at his residence Saturday at 4 p. m., and interment made in Roselawn Cemetery.
Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lisette Kreisle; four daughters, Mrs. A. J. Tondre, Mrs. Viola Beckmeyer, Mrs. C. S. Miquez, Mrs. G. T. Tripp; a son, Emmett J. Kreisle, three grandchildren and one great-grandchild, all of San Antonio.
Mr. Kreisle followed the blacksmith trade for many years in Castrovilla, where he was well and favorably known. When the senior editors of this paper first set up housekeeping in Castrovilla, where they were then publishing the Anvil, Mr. Kreisle made a pair of andirons for them which they continued to use until natural gas was brought into Hondo and the fire-place, with its cheerful, crackling wood fire became outmoded.
Mr. Kreisle was a brother-in-law to Mrs. Regina Schmidt and uncle of Deputy Sheriff Reinhart Weber both of Hondo.

BOHL-SCHNEIDER WEDDING IN ST. LOUIS CHURCH

St. Louis Church of Castrovilla was the scene of a beautiful wedding ceremony Thursday morning, November 15th, at 9 o'clock, when Miss Dorothy Schneider, second oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schneider of Castrovilla, became the happy bride of Francis Bohl, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bohl of Devine. Very Rev. Dean J. Lenzen officiated at the wedding ceremony and was celebrant of the Nuptial Mass.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Melvin Barth, sister of the bride, matron of honor, and Miss Geraldine Bohl, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaid. Mrs. Barth was attired in a navy blue suit with pink accessories and wore a corsage of red gladioli. Miss Bohl wore a lime suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli.

The bride entered with her father and was met at the altar railing by the bridegroom and his cousin, Edwin Bohl Jr., who served as best man. Leon Schneider, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

The bride was beautifully attired in an aqua suit with black accessories and wore a corsage of white gardenias. She carried a prayer book topped with chrysanthemums and showered with white ribbon. The bridegroom and his attendants wore blue suits with white chrysanthemums as boutonnières.

Immediately after the ceremony the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple left for a brief honeymoon and on their return will make their home on the George Bader place at Black Creek.

MAYBETH BARRY NAMED QUEEN

SAN MARCOS, Nov. 22.—Miss Maybeth Barry was crowned 1945 Rattler queen Friday night in half-time ceremonies of the San Marcos-Gonzales football game.

The comely 16-year old brunette's crowning was kept a secret until a wreath of flowers was placed in her hands as the San Marcos pep squad formed a huge heart, pierced by an arrow.

The queen, a San Marcos high school senior and cheerleader, is the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. J. G. Barry of this city.

Miss Maybeth has many friends here who rejoice with her in this favor, she having spent her early childhood here while her father was the Superintendent of Hondo Public Schools.

One of the biggest deer seen in Hondo the first day of the season was killed by Edwin Wiemers on the Muennink ranch below Yancey near Seco Creek. The buck had 12 points and dressed 140 pounds.

HONDO BOY IN OKINAWA TYPHOON

OKINAWA.—T/Sgt. Robert H. Pryor of Hondo, Texas, has been highly praised by Col. Thomas J. DuBose, Commanding Officer of a B-29 (Super Fortress) unit attached to the Eighth Air Force, for his work during and after the severely destructive typhoon which struck Okinawa October 10.

"It was due to the extreme efforts of Sgt. Pryor and others of this Wing that property losses were held to a minimum," Col. DuBose said. "His work, and that of his fellows, during and after the typhoon undoubtedly saved our men from serious injury or worse and saved thousands of dollars of government money. I cannot commend them too highly."

While property damage, despite the efforts of the men, was high none of the Wing personnel received more than minor injuries. Order has been restored to the unit's offices, and living quarters have been constructed in highly improved form following the storm which was one of the most severe ever recorded in this region.

During the approximately 24 hours the typhoon was at its height on Okinawa winds of more than 85 miles per hour were recorded, before the recording machine blew down, while velocities of up to 135 miles were reported unofficially. More than four inches of rain fell during the same period in the Wing area.

NEWS BEHIND
THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLONLEADING GERMAN TELLS OF NAZI QUALIFICATIONS

WASHINGTON.—The first studied picture of how things were run inside the madhouse of the Nazi state has been obtained by our intelligence people from captured leaders.

This clears much of the foolishness glibly aired by Hitler officers in their interviews with news reporters—or, at all accounting, the statement of one Dr. Schacht does.

Schacht was the only high German who had an intelligent mind. It was he who contrived the clever financial and economic subterfuges by which Hitler built a bankrupt state into a world threat in a few years. He is Dr. Hjalmer Horace Greeley (imagine that old American journalistic middle name) Schacht. He quit Berlin when the arms expenditures started going mad at Hitler's direction, and was found interned by our invading armies.

His opinion of top Nazis: Hitler: "I would not believe Hitler dead if he told me so himself."

Herman Goering, the fat right-hand man of Hitler: "A fool, a coward, and always a liar. He was in all things ignorant, and a charlatan."

Goebbels, the propagandist: "A terrible liar but the best brain in the government, as well as a most courageous man."

Himmler, who handled the discipline through secret police, purges and terror: "A dreadful, horrible man."

HITLER'S FAILING MIND

Thyssen, who financed Hitler into power and then broke with him when the pogrom started: "A weakening of inherited wealth." (Thyssen incidentally was captured by Hitler in the occupation of Paris in 1940 and was kept in a concentration camp, where our people found him a very old and frail man.)

Schacht, I think, gives the goods on the Nazi leaders more honestly and accurately than any other one. Of the limitations of Hitler's mind, he says Der Fuehrer never realized the war was lost, although the others realized it a year or more before the end.

Hitler never dared hold a cabinet meeting after 1938 because those with intelligence in his own group constantly opposed his wild planning. General Udet, for one instance, dared express opposition merely to the Goering shortsighted air policy, and after correctly predicting Goering would lose German air superiority by 1944, shot himself.

They were all very ordinary men, less than average in acumen and warped bitterly and egotistically. The only way they could keep themselves in power to work their mad destiny was by crushing all common sense and stilling any voice of reason. Not one, in character, foresight or any genuine virtue, could compare with the great men of history.

From Schacht also comes the first clear picture of secret German finance, the bookkeeping magic by which the Nazis defied arithmetic—for a time. He says Hitler started really arming for the war first in 1937 and 1938 when his budgets contained three billion marks (both years) for armaments. This was at the time when Mr. Roosevelt was submitting amiable plans for world peace and thinking the removal of trade barriers would do it.

The Swiss quotation on the mark then was around three cents, which would mean the annual arms budget was around $90,000,000 in our currency—two-fifths of which went for the air force then, as thereafter, until the end of the war. The money was raised by bond issues bearing 3½ per cent interest and the banks were required to take them.

Schacht protested to Hitler in 1938 that the system he had set up to beat bankruptcy could not stand such expenditures, and after a couple of scenes with Hitler, he quit. The amount of currency outstanding then was only 8 billion marks, but thereafter Hitler inflated it 10 times, to 80 billion marks.

The debt when Schacht left was around 90 billion marks and Hitler ran it up to 450 billion at the war's end, quintupling it. This would seem to make the Nazi war cost around 430 billion marks, of which about 70 billion was raised by inflation, and 360 billion by seizing the savings and working money of citizens through bond issues imposed on the banks.

At a three-cent mark, the cost could be computed roughly at somewhere around $12,900,000,000.

America's war effort has increased the debt from about $250,000,000,000, without considering tax receipts which reached $45,000,000,000 last year. Of course Hitler was not required to finance the world, and gave little aid even to his ally, Italy.

The lesson which can be learned from the sound Schacht evidence is twofold:

(a) Nazidom shows what defective mentalities can do when they attain absolute power and exclude reason.

(b) You cannot long cheat arithmetic even in a controlled state.

Softly Draped Handbags Tuned to Stunning Fall and Winter Costumes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

DESIGNERS are on the qui vive this season to create handsome handbags that will measure up to the fashion glory and the new elegance of the stunning costumes which go to make up the fall and winter style picture.

In assembling your fall-winter wardrobe, keep in mind that this year your costume will be only as smart as the handbag you carry with it. That's how important handbags really are. You will have no trouble in finding as handsome handbags and as versatile as ever fancy might picture. Be sure to make your selection with meticulous care, for this year's handbags make a decided departure from the stereotyped styles of yore.

The three voguish Jenny handbags shown in the illustration are typical of the new movement toward the feminine look, achieved through soft draping. These bags are styled as American women prefer them, with elegance and stark clean lines, and in fabrics that mean fashion and wearability.

With your perfect dawn-to-dusk trotter, the bag to the left will be ideal. It is spiced with the new soft look via uniquely quilted and gathered supple goatskin. You'll take real pleasure in this bag because it is so roomily built to take care of your feminine possessions, and it sure is a winner in "looks."

Simple enough for tailored casuals, feminine enough for all your frills is the handbag centered above. It tells you that the under-arm bag has lost its strictly tailored look, has been lifted out of it this season with soft pleats and dedraping, as you see. The supple goatskin that fashions this bag is most attractive not only to the eye but to the touch. The mock tortoise that makes such a good-looking trim is outstanding in the news when it comes to adding the touch that tells to this season's smartest handbags.

Sleek, smooth, quality-kind broadcloth, the fabric that fraternizes with most every costume, makes the good-looking bag to the right. In this instance, the designer takes the ever-popular underarm handle bag and artfully drapes a pleated flange through a graceful span of mock tortoise.

Speaking in general of what's what in new handbag fashions, the most exciting innovation in many a season is the advent of little bulbous pouch bags done in eye-catching silhouettes. These pouch bags certainly have cunning ways and they are staging a display of breathtaking novelty. Made of practical broadcloth, faille and various wearable media, they carry on in a modest way by day. When it comes to the dressy cocktail party and gala after-five occasion, however, the little pouch bag puts on a spectacular display that fairly bubbles over with all the glitter and intriguing fussiness imagination can devise.

Just now it's the whimsical pouch bag of black satin that holds forth in the fashion spotlight. Women are buying these bags to go with the satin hat and with the all-satin gown that is so style-important this fall. These black satin bags are perfect with afternoon and evening clothes. The party bags fairly scintillate with the glitter of sequins or tiny steel or jet beads. Most of the box bags have straps to sling over the arm. The swiftest news of all is the little shoulder strap bags that become a decorative part of the frock when dancing.

Blouse Favorites

Sheer lingerie blouses of loveliest texture, and exquisitely detailed with lace register as topflight fashion with the young set this fall to wear with the dress-up suit. Shown at the top is a charming "come hither" blouse in batiste by Judy Bond, a young college girl and stylist who is combining a career and schooling with high success. The other blouse in judiana rayon crepe is the wanted kind for college wear. Its highspot style details are the triple-stitched convertible V-neck, closely set pearl buttons and french cuffs. Comes in white and voguish colors.

Furred Cloth Coats
Make Fashion News

The short cloth coat with intriguing fur trim is taking over in a tremendous way for fall. The top news is luxurious wool coats with gorgeous borders that either trim the flare hemline or are applied in a tuxedo manner down the front. Important is the style message of fur sleeves in cloth coats, such as the belted wool shorties in neutral shades that are fashioned with waist deep sleeves of black Persian. Interesting also is the cloth coat with a fur yoke. Contrasting the voluptuous fur trims is the use of fur in discreet ways, as for instance, the cloth coat that is bound all around the edges with Persian or beaver or other smooth peltry. There is also indication that one type fur will trim another. Designers are doing wonderful things with fur, not only in trimming but in accessories, and fur hats are being turned out in endless versions.

Color Contrast Extended
To New Evening Dresses

The idea of color contrast is associated in our minds for the most part in connection with sports clothes and daytime dresses. It's interesting to note that this color technique is carrying on in the realm of formal evening gowns. In one instance a noted designer introduces a panel that extends from the right shoulder to the floor hemline of the dress. The panel is made up of lime and red, flashed against a black background.

Sequin Ornaments on Combs

Sequin flower motifs on combs are among the hair ornaments that are best sellers. Some are designed especially for top hairdress and others for top-knot hair-do.

BARRY FITZGERALD, rehearsing for his role of "Judge Fitz" in "His Honor the Barber," remarked "If I'd known how much work radio is I'd never have gone into it." Guest appearances hadn't prepared him for all that toil. Incidentally, they had a deal of trouble finding the right microphone for that brogue of his—finally found an old one that filters some of it out. But the brogue comes in handy in "Third Avenue," the Paramount picture he's working in with Sonny Tufts and Diana Lynn.

pictures—"George Washington Slept Here," "The Man Who Came to Dinner," etc.—before he went into the army. He's working now on "I Love You Truly," based on the life of Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Maureen O'Hara's sister makes her film debut in RKO's forthcoming British production, "Hotel Reserve." Her name's Clare Hamilton, and like her famous sister, she attended the Abbey Dramatic school. Maureen's next is "The Spanish Main."

On location for Bob Hope's new picture, "Monsieur Beaucaire," Director George Marshall demonstrated to Patric Knowles just how he was to skip from rock to rock across a stream. And fell in, of course, acquiring a bruised shin. Knowles did it perfectly.

Olga San Juan has an odd claim to fame—she's Fred Astaire's last screen dancing partner, as he's retiring from picture-making after "Blue Skies." But Gene Kelly, whose dancing is as inspired as Astaire's, saves the day for movie-goers. Both the "Alter Ego" number in "Cover Girl," in which he danced with himself, and the sequence in "Anchors Aweigh" in which he dances with an animated cartoon character, were conceived, staged and directed by Kelly. Furthermore, the lad can act—who can ask for anything more?

An animated cartoon character, "Nixie," steals Columbia's "She Wouldn't Say Yes" right out from under the noses of Rosalind Russell, Lee Bowman and Adele Jergens. People are saying it's the best one since Mickey Mouse was born.

Dinah Shore's trying something different—the singing hostess of "Dinah Shore's Open House," over NBC, will star in Sinclair Lewis' "Bongo" for Walt Disney. She'll act as narrator, sing several songs, and appear before the cameras.

Charity tennis matches to be played by Walter Pidgeon and Van Johnson next spring will get a preview when "Holiday in Mexico" is released. They'll play a practice game for the cameras. Pidgeon goes all out as an athlete in this one—swims, plays golf, rides horseback. He plays the American ambassador to Mexico, just as a change from being Greer Garson's husband.

Betty Hutton saved her boss, Producer B. G. DeSylva, a nice sum in wardrobe rental costs for "The Stork Club." She was to wear a mink coat. The wardrobe department had trouble finding one that was swanky enough. So Betty volunteered to wear her own—value, $10,000.

As soon as Ed "Archie" Gardner's young son had his curls cut he began making the rounds of Hollywood children's parties—within a week he went to one given by Ann Rutherford's youngster and another, a costume party, given by the Lee Bowmans for their son.

ODDS AND ENDS—Comes word that Bing Crosby will probably return to the air the first of the year. . . . According to the latest reports, Art Linkletter's CBS "House Party" has the highest sponsor identification of any daytime show on the air. . . . Leo Gatcher, called the world's champion square dance caller, and his wife, Winnie, appear in RKO's "Badman's Territory." . . . Carol Stewart, vocalist on Martin Hurl's "Beulah" show, was a sound effects girl only five months ago; she's recently signed a 20th Century Fox contract. . . . Those who've seen "Tara and Spars" say Alfred Drake's better in it than he was in "Oklahoma."

"NONE SO GOOD." SAYS MRS. CARL STOWE

SPRINGFIELD, MISSOURI. — Mrs. Carl Stowe finally got around to writing to Faultless Starch. Here is what she says:

"I've intended to write for a long time, but just kept putting it off. I just wanted to say I have used Faultless a long time. I have tried other starches but none so good as Faultless. It is more economical and does not blow out of the clothes. Then they iron so much easier. I sure am sold on Faultless and I just wanted to tell you so."

That is a wonderful letter, isn't it. Mrs. Stowe has tried other starches and she says "none so good as Faultless."

DOES NOT BLOW OUT

One thing she says in her letter may be very interesting to you. She says that Faultless Starch does not blow out. Now you probably have had the experience of getting your wash all done, starched and on the line—only to find when you go to iron that the wind has whipped all the starch out! And you have to starch all over again—put them on the line—and iron a day late!

Now, you don't HAVE to go through that . . . not if you use Faultless Starch!

You see, Faultless Starch is made a special way so that the starch penetrates into the fabric. It doesn't just stick to the outside. As a result, the wind doesn't blow it out—and a freeze won't freeze it out!

Think what a lot of time and work that one thing can save you some busy week!

But that isn't the only wonderful thing about Faultless Starch! It takes only a minute to make perfect hot starch—WITHOUT COOKING! And, it contains ironing-aids that keep the iron from sticking—NO "STICKY" IRON! It's so easy to do smooth, beautiful ironing.

So try Faultless Starch, and you'll never go back to the old, hard-work way of starching.—Adv.

Hot Breads

If you want to choose one item that will make a company meal out of a plain menu, then add fragrant home-made bread or rolls to it. Fresh-from-the-oven bread or rolls are meal tonics hard to beat.

If you want to add extra nourishment to your menus or to give inexpensive energy to your family, then the formula is bread—or rolls! They contain carbohydrates, some fat and milk and eggs.

Bread can be used lavishly in many interesting ways. A fruited coffee ring for breakfast can mean the difference between a well begun day or a dull, prodding one. And think of the difference between fresh, moist bread in sandwiches for lunch and dry, stale bread.

First of all, there's this scarlet-topped and crystal-glazed quick coffee cake to start the day right. Or, if you prefer, it will do nicely for dessert, thank you!

Cranberry Coffee Ring. (12 Servings)

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening
Cranberry Orange Topping.
Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Beat egg and add milk and shortening. Stir in dry ingredients, mixing only enough to moisten them. Spread topping evenly over the bottom of a ring mold. Pour batter over topping. Bake in a moderately hot (425-degree) oven for 25 minutes.

Cranberry Orange Topping.
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups whole, raw cranberries
Mix together in order given and use it as directed above.

Now that cheese is plentiful and unrationed, it's a good idea to use it for main dishes and desserts, too. With plump, red-cheeked apples and cheese, you can make this delectable dessert:

Cheese-Apple Cobblers.
(Serves 6-8)
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2-1 cup nippy grated cheese
2-4 tablespoons shortening
3/4-1 cup milk

LYNN SAYS
Bread Baking: For baking bread and rolls, the oven should be fairly hot. On gas, electric or oil ranges, the oven temperature should read from 380 to 400 degrees.

Pans (if more than one loaf is baked at a time) should not stand too close together, so that heat may circulate freely around them. After about 10 minutes of baking, the temperature should be reduced to about 350 degrees and maintained until the loaves are done. Medium-sized loaves require 45 to 50 minutes' baking time, while large loaves need an hour or longer.

If there is no oven thermometer handy, the temperature may be tested as follows: Spread 1/2 teaspoon flour on an inverted baking tin in a layer 1/4 inch thick and place in the oven. At 400 degrees, the flour will become light brown in about 5 minutes. If it darkens more quickly than that, allow the oven to cool before placing bread in to bake.

1 cup chopped apples
2 tablespoons sugar
Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut or rub in shortening. Add cheese and mix lightly. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 1/2 minute. Roll into a rectangular sheet about 1/4 inch thick. Spread chopped apples which have been mixed with sugar over the biscuit dough. Roll jelly-roll fashion and slice in inch pieces.

An old favorite is oatmeal bread which is excellent served while warm, thinly spread with butter. Or, if you seek variety for the lunch box, you will like it for meat and cheese sandwiches. The following recipe takes molasses for sweetening.

Oatmeal Bread.
(Makes 1 loaf)
1 cup rolled oats
2 cups milk
1/2 cup molasses
2 teaspoons salt
4 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon melted shortening
1 yeast cake softened in 1/2 cup warm water

Pour hot milk over oatmeal and let stand until lukewarm. Add yeast, molasses, salt and shortening. Stir in flour and let rise. When light, pour into greased bread pans and let rise again. Bake in a hot (425-degree) oven for 15 minutes, reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees) and continue baking for 35 minutes.

Have you ever looked for a really good roll recipe? Here is one that is easily and quickly made. The trick is to have all the ingredients in the dough at room temperature (lukewarm).

Company Rolls.
(Makes about 2 dozen rolls)
1 cake yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
3/4 cup milk, scalded and cooled to lukewarm
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup melted shortening, cooled to lukewarm
2 eggs, well beaten
About 4 cups sifted flour
Pour the 1/4 cup lukewarm water onto yeast, add 1 tablespoon of the sugar, stir and let stand about 5 minutes.

Dissolve salt and rest of the sugar in milk. When lukewarm, add yeast and blend with 2 cups flour. Beat very thoroughly. Next add eggs and shortening. Mix well and beat 3 minutes. Add remaining flour to make a smooth dough. Knead lightly on board for about 5 minutes. Use only enough flour to keep from sticking. Dough should be kept as soft as possible. Place in a lightly greased bowl. Grease top and let rise until doubled. Fold dough down and let rise again until doubled. Shape into rolls. Let rise in greased pans until doubled. Bake 10-12 minutes in a hot (425-degree) oven.

Shaping Rolls.
The latest in dough tricks is this: after the first rising, shape finger strips of dough 8-12 inches long and wrap around a clean clothespin. Proceed to let rise again until light and bake as rolls. After baking remove clothespin. Fill hot or cold with any desired sandwich filling. Or, proceed in the same manner but wrap finger strips of dough around a frankfurter, dainty or large, hearty size. These make fine snacks for either an evening or children's party.

REVIEW OF A NEW AUTOMOBILE

The first 1946 model—automobile has been unveiled to the public. Thousands visited the showroom, and shouts of joy went up as the American buying public saw the many new features. These included fenders on both sides, bumpers in the proper position and brakes that really worked.

Departures from the trend of the last four years were numerous, a marked leaning toward having the chassis directly in line with the body, instead of partly askew being especially noteworthy.

Further sensations included exhaust pipes that were not dangling, and a tendency to have all shackles and bolts in the proper position. Nothing like this had been seen on automobiles since Pearl Harbor, and the reception was terrific.

Outstanding innovations, too, were windshields with the glass intact, wipers that really worked by pressing a little gadget, as directed, and a dashboard clock that did not register 8:15 permanently.

The first view of the new wonder car made it plain that a score of surprises were in store for the man who has been driving what has passed as an automobile since 1941. For one thing—and this is important—doors are back! Definitely!

Much comment was caused by the discovery that after closing the door windows you can no longer stick your hand out without lowering it again. The public is expected to get used to this after a while. The idea of having one or more panes of glass missing has been completely dropped.

Salesmen explained, however, that if customers through habit wished to have a door with the glass missing, they could arrange it.

Nineteen forty-six models will have paint on all parts, much of it with a gloss. Steering gears will be quite firm, it being no longer necessary to give them four or five complete turns to control the wheels.

General approval of the new cars was expressed; but there was one sign of disappointment. It was discovered that the companies would make no departure from the 35-year rule of never providing a jack or a kit of tools adequate for even a minor repair.

RADIO TREATS FOR G.I.s

Survivors of the Big Boom
Dr. Einstein says that two-thirds of the human race may be wiped out some day by atomic bombs, but that "there will always be enough thinking men and books left to start all over again." Nice talk! And, anyhow, we will bet the professor a box of cigars against a fifty-word explanation of the theory of relativity that the "thinking men" who survive will be left with their thinking apparatus too twisted to do anything.
